Rate + Fee Summary Information

IRA Accounts

Traditional IRA

The Traditional IRA allows you to contribute up to $5,500.00/year if you have earned income up to $6,500.00/year, if over the age of 50.

Deposits you make may be deducted on your taxes. All earnings on your IRA are tax deferred until you make withdrawals from the account.

This IRA account allows you to rollover a pension plan after retirement or change of job.

Roth IRA

The Roth IRA is a nondeductible, tax free withdrawal account (required five-year holding period before making withdrawals).

All earnings on this account are tax free.

You can contribute up to $5,500.00/year into this account or $6,500.00/year, if over the age of 50.

Simplified Employee Pension Plan (SEP)

The SEP account is for corporation, partnership, or sole proprietorship.

A SEP Plan benefits both the employer sponsoring the plan and the employees who share in the plan's contributions.

The SEP is tax deductible for the employer.

Coverdell Education (CESA)

A nondeductible, tax free withdrawal, account for a child's higher education expenses.

All earnings on the CESA are tax free when used for educational expenses.

You can contribute up to $2,000.00/year for your own child, grandchild, niece or nephew - any child under the age of 18.

You do not have to have earned income to contribute.
